Things to Check Before, During and After Filming your Workout/Test

- If designing your own choreography have you:
 - *Included all compulsory movements
 - *Checked the rules pertaining to your level regarding allowable movements
 - *Checked the time limits for your level and made sure you are within the required time.

Please note: Any amended choreography will be charged on an additional per hr basis of $60 per hr.
- Make sure you are riding in an appropriate sized arena/area.
- Before filming, have you ridden through your workout/test enough to make sure it rides well and is ridden correctly? The better rehearsed the more accurate your editing will be and the less stressful it will be when it comes to filming.
- Have you given yourself enough time for the filming? I know most people have limited time especially when we are relying on a groom, friend, spouse or family member to film for us. If we feel under pressure, mistakes and frustrations creep in so make sure you film at a time that is convenient to you both and allow more time than you think you will need.
- Is your video camera mounted on a tripod? Video's which are difficult for me to watch take longer to edit and will be charged accordingly.
- Is your horse in white wraps? This is not essential but it does make tempo matching easier for me.
- Have you filmed you entry and 1st halt? Again, this makes editing easier.
- Have you checked your Video/DVD before you send it to me?
- Have you thanked the person who helped you film? I spend hours watching the work that they do filming and I really appreciate a well filmed freestyle so make sure you let them know how much YOU appreciate them too!
